“Those who don’t study history are doomed to repeat it.
Yet those who do study history are doomed to stand by helplessly while everyone else repeats it.”

A marble bust of the ancient Greek historian Thucydides, showing him with a full beard and curly hair, looking slightly to the right. The bust is set against a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds at the bottom right.

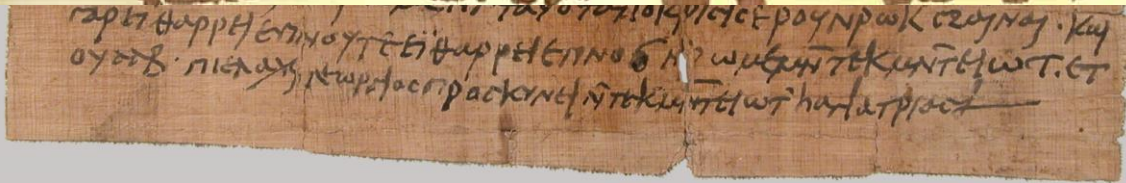

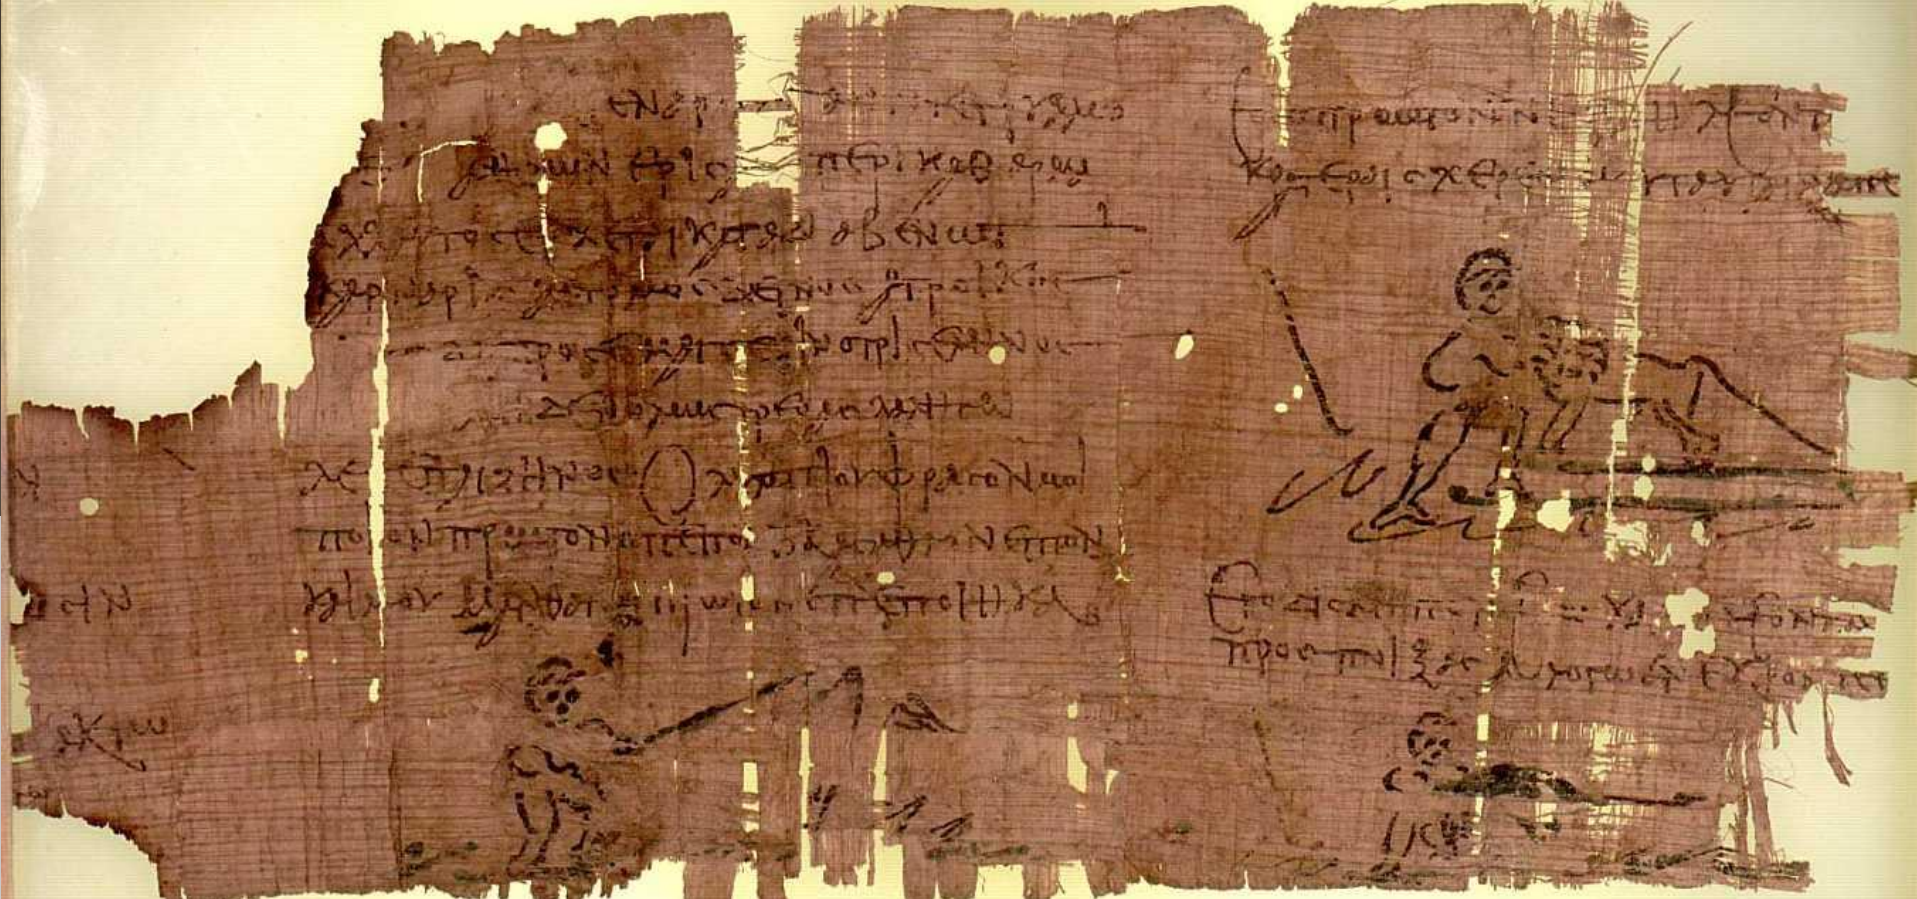

“And with regard to my factual reporting of the events of the war I have made it a principle not to write down the first story that came my way, and not even to be guided by my own general impressions; either I was present myself at the events which I have described or else I heard of them from eye-witnesses whose reports I have checked with as much thoroughness as possible” Thuc., History of the Peloponnesian Wars, 1.22.9-14.
